

Creating Event Driven Applications - Dialog

Dialogs are used in conjunction with event-driven programming when creating Natural applications for graphical user interfaces (GUIs).

For information on dialogs and event-driven programming, please refer to Event-Driven Programming in the Natural for Windows documentation.
